LETTER FROM OUR BOARD CHAIR

ALLOW ME TO INTRODUCE MYSELF: I am a native of northwest Iowa steeped in the tradition and culture of Catholic rural life. I was formed by the women religious of Dubuque, including the B.V.M. and Presentation sisters, and diocesan priests. I had an inkling of wanting to be a priest since third grade, but it wasn't until college, where I earned a degree in public relations from Missouri State University, that I was introduced to the Benedictines of Conception Abbey and then discerned diocesan priesthood. My bishop sent me to Saint Meinrad Seminary in Indiana to study. I ended up falling in love with the place and monastic community, made solemn monastic profession in 2004 and was ordained a Benedictine priest in 2005. I have since earned a Master's in Catholic Thought and Life and a Master of Divinity, both from Saint Meinrad Seminary and School of Theology.

NFCRV Board Chair
Father Anthony
Vinson, O.S.B.

Although I was blessed not to have educational debt, I quickly learned of the challenge it poses to religious life when I served as Board Chair of the National Religious Vocation Conference (NRVC) as they conducted their landmark study on educational debt in 2012. During my tenure on the NRVC board, we established the National Fund for Catholic Religious Vocations (NFCRV) to address the obstacle of student debt to religious life. I then had the privilege of serving on the NFCRV board since its inception.

I have a deep appreciation for women and men religious and all that they offer the church. We need their vocations. Over the years, I have served as a formator at the seminary, vocations director for my community, and director of Youth and Young Adult Formation at the school of theology. Presently, I am pastor of St. Boniface Parish and St. Meinrad Parish near the monastery, chaplain at a Xaverian-sponsored school in Louisville, and NFCRV Board Chair for the past year. I have seen first-hand the need for sisters, brothers, and priests and the charism of their religious institutes.

We have found that a deferred vocation can easily become a lost vocation.

Because religious communities cannot accept a candidate who is not free to embrace the vow of poverty, candidates wait to enter while they pay off their student loans. And that is a disappointment for the candidate and the community. We have found that a deferred vocation can easily become a lost vocation. That is why we established the vocation fund, which in a few short years has served more than 30 religious communities and their candidates with educational debt.

We are grateful to our founding sponsors and our faithful benefactors, including the Helen Brach Foundation and the National Council of Catholic Women. As you will see in this report, we are good stewards with the gifts we have received to fulfill NFCRV's mission.

The community of the faithful—all of us working and supporting one another—is essential to the life of knowing, loving and seeking Christ in the church and the fostering of religious vocations. Thank you for being there for us and with us.

In Christ, I am

Father Anthony, O.S.B.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OVERVIEW

IN LOOKING BACK ON 2020 no one could have imagined the impact COVID 19 would have on our lives. The pandemic hit our global neighbors first and since my daughter was studying in Italy I was using that lens to gauge the impact and devastation never thinking back in February that this was just the start.

Fast forward through the year as we isolated, prayed, masked and lived a virtual life.

What are you watching, reading, cooking or learning? We all tried to do what was best to stay safe knowing many lives of family, friends and neighbors were being devastated and cut short by the impact of the virus.

I kept returning to the thought that all things have a beginning—good things as well as bad. Five years ago, in 2015, NFCRV first began to help young religious life discerners with their educational debt through our grants to religious institutes.

During a Zoom presentation to new vocation directors at the National Religious Vocation Conference's 2020 Summer Institute, I received a vivid, real-time reminder of our vocation fund's positive impact. As I was speaking, Adrian Dominican Sister Katherine Frasier

I received a vivid, real-time reminder of our vocation fund's positive impact.

O.P., gave testimony in the chat about how NFCRV helped her. "If it weren't for the educational grant," she said, "I wouldn't be here." Because of NFCRV, Sister Katherine did not have to defer her vocation until her student loans were paid off. Her community, the students at the Catholic school where she teaches, and the new discerners she now accompanies as a vocation director have all benefited from Sister Katherine's ability to enter religious life five years ago, instead of 5 years from now when her student loans are paid off.

Sister Katherine was in our first class of grantees in 2015. It all comes full circle thanks to the generosity of donors who support our mission to eradicate the obstacle of student debt to Catholic religious vocations.

Despite a slight drop in donations due to the pandemic, we were still able to answer the call of all those who sought a grant in 2020. For this we are extremely grateful.

On behalf of our NFCRV Board and all of our grantees I thank all of our donors, supporters, and well wishers. Here's hoping that 2021 brings us health and prosperity for the greater glory of God.

NFCRV Executive Director Phil Loftus

With you on the journey.

2020 HIGHLIGHTS AND INITIATIVES

NFCRV DONORS

The NFCRV is grateful to the Helen Brach Foundation and the National Council of Catholic Women for their continued support of our mission as well as the Conrad N. Hilton Foundation and GHR Foundation that helped us establish the fund for the benefit of NRVC member institutes. Since its inception, the NFCRV has granted $937,567 toward the educational debt of approximately 47 candidates to religious life. All of this is done through the generosity of our supporters and benefactors. The NFCRV continues to seek new sources of funding to maintain a sustainable financial model.

MEETINGS, CONFERENCES & CONTINUING EDUCATION

- On Jan. 23, 2020, NFCRV Executive Director Phil Loftus joined VISION Vocation Guide publisher Patrice Tuohy to discuss “Growing religious vocations throughout the U.S.” on Chicago Archdiocese Radio with host and former NFCRV Director Mark Teresi.
- The NFCRV board held its annual meeting virtually on June 9, 2020 where they determined 2020 Grantees and conducted other fund business, including updates and reviewing investments. Learn more about our grantee communities and their candidates at nfcrv.org/stories.
- Also in June, Phil Loftus attended the online seminar “DAF 101: How to unlock $120 billion in hidden funding,” which provided information about Donor-Advised Funds (DAF).
- In July, Phil presented at the National Religious Vocation Conference’s Summer Institute and answered questions from new vocation directors about the Fund.
- NFCRV welcomed visitors to a virtual booth at the online 2020 conference of the Resource Center for Religious Institutes (RCRI) held over three Fridays from Oct. 23–Nov. 6, 2020.
- NFCRV grantees Sister Ana Gonzales, O.P., Sister Katherine Frazier, O.P., and Sister Mary Amata Reifsnnyder, S.C.C., were featured in videos on hope at the 2020 virtual Convocation for the National Religious Vocation Conference, which NFCRV staff attended in October. Find the entire Abundant Hope Playlist here: <https://tinyurl.com/wh5z37fu>
- NFCRV Board Chair Father Anthony Vinson, O.S.B. and Executive Director Phil Loftus completed the six-week Lilly Family School of Philanthropy course on Principles and Techniques of Fundraising, which helped each fine tune their fundraising strategies. Phil received a Dottie Rosso Scholarship to attend, providing a 50% reduction in fees.

MEET OUR NEWEST GRANTEE CANDIDATES

In 2020 six religious institutes were awarded educational debt relief through the National Fund for Catholic Religious Vocations. Since its inception NFCRV grants have enabled 33 candidates to discern their call free from the worry of student loan payments.

PAMELA ROSE SURESCA

SALESIAN SISTERS (DAUGHTERS OF MARY HELP OF CHRISTIANS)
Haledon, NJ

What surprised me most about religious life

St. Francis De Sales says: "Be who you are and be that well, in order to honor the Master craftsman whose handiwork you are." This statement rings true for the Salesian Sisters. One of the greatest surprises in religious life, specifically the Salesians, is that each sister is SOOOO different, quirky, talented, and unique. I think I came into this seeing and witnessing many religious sisters who all seemed so similar in how they talked, prayed, and acted. In my time with the Salesians I have noticed that each sister is fully alive and fully herself while still living out the Salesian Spirit.

RYAN RICHTER

MARIST BROTHERS Forrest Hills, NY

My Vocation Story

Right after I graduated from college, but before I began my professional career, I went on a vocation pilgrimage to visit several religious communities. Seeing these people living to love and serve all God's children with such purpose and intentionality made me realize the fulfillment I was seeking wasn't in money or fancy job titles, but in living my everyday life as the closest imitation to Jesus Christ as I could. And, for me, that's the Brothers.

CATHERINE BIER

CARMEL OF THE SACRED HEART
Hudson, WI

What I love about the Catholic Church

Everything! Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament tops my list (melts the stress off) along with the Blessed Virgin Mary.

My vocation aspiration

To grow closer to God and others through love, prayer and Carmelite spirituality, through all aspects of community life.

MEGAN CHRIST

TOTUS TUUS Pittsburgh, PA

How my education will help me in my ministry

My background in psychology gives me an open-minded awe in how uniquely God crafts each one of us, especially our minds. I hope to teach adolescents how to integrate faith into their intellect, will, and emotions. Studying studio art allowed me to learn that I can connect to God with each of my senses. This knowledge helps me to teach the young women I work with how to pray.

HIEN NGUYEN

DOMINICAN SISTERS OF MARY IMMACULATE PROVINCE
Houston, TX

What I'd like to say to benefactors

Thank you all for your support. You are creating a realistic hope for others to follow their callings. With this grant, I am more at ease to continue my application to the convent. And I could not be more happy and feel blessed.

A favorite teacher

My favorite teacher is Mr. Wilson. He taught me English when I first came to America. He made me feel like I am smart and important. I enjoyed school more because of him.

OUR MISSION

The National Fund for Catholic Religious Vocations (NFCRV) serves as a sign of hope in the future of consecrated life and is dedicated to increasing the number of women and men entering religious communities.

The Fund hopes to accomplish this goal by:

- Offering financial assistance to religious institutes so that they may accept candidates who have student loan obligations.
- Assisting congregations in developing policies and resources so that they may work effectively with those who have educational debt.
- Inviting contributors to invest so that the vital legacy of religious life continues for the Church and the world.
- The Fund awards grants based on need. Any canonically recognized religious institute with membership in the National Religious Vocation Conference may apply for a grant to service a candidate's educational debt during formation.

The NFCRV plays an important role in ensuring the future of religious life and in spreading the happiness and joy found in new vocations. To all of our sponsors and donors, we say thank you for your generosity and vision!
